METHODOLOGY FOR COLLECTING CASES OF RIGHTS VIOLATIONS

The report was compiled based on the protocol of the National report on violations of the rights of gay men, other MSM and trans* people, in particular the right to health. The basis for the national report is systematized information on cases of violations of the right to health (cases documented during the year) in Uzbekistan, collected using tools provided by ECOM and partner initiatives, as well as a brief analysis of the legal environment.

Several research methods were used as part of monitoring:

- Analysis of documented cases from the REAct database;
- Prepared appeals to paralegals;
- Analysis of thematic materials from open sources.

Goal of information collection: to identify cases of violations of the human rights, in particular the right to health, of gay, bisexual and other MSM, and trans* people.

As a result of the analysis, the main grounds for violations and discrimination were identified, and quantitative data was obtained. Conclusions and recommendations were developed based on this data.

NATIONAL LEGISLATION IN THE FIELD OF HEALTH

Uzbekistan remains one of two republics in Central Asia that criminalizes consensual sex between adult men¹. This has led to the fact that the LGBT community does not feel safe; it is impossible to register an organization working with LGBT people, even in the field of HIV prevention. Legislation in Uzbekistan is one of the most repressive in EECA in relation to LGBT people and PLH.

ANTI-DISCRIMINATION LEGISLATION

There is no separate anti-discrimination legislation in Uzbekistan, although separate norms aimed at preventing discrimination exist in individual laws. However, they do not include SOGI as protected grounds.

The Constitution of Uzbekistan does not explicitly mention the prohibition of discrimination, but equality is guaranteed by law². The Republic lacks the necessary legislation to prevent hate crimes, hate speech and discrimination.

LEGISLATION IN THE FIELD OF HIV PREVENTION

The Law of RUz «On counteracting the spread of the disease caused by HIV»³ permits mandatory HIV testing of any person, not only by court order, but also on the basis of a decision of an official (official inquirer, prosecutor, investigator).

In addition, on August 26, the MIA of Uzbekistan submitted for public discussion a draft resolution⁴ of the Cabinet of Ministers on compulsory medical examination for HIV. Compulsory medical examinations are a violation of human rights, and not only do not result in positive changes in the fight against HIV, but also worsen the situation.

² Article 117. – URL: <https://lex.uz/docs/35869>

³ Entered into force on 23 September 2013 as N3PY-353.

⁴ URL: <https://regulation.gov.uz/uz/d/67012>

In addition to compulsory testing, it provides that authorities must keep records of people included in the «risk group» in order to prevent «moral and spiritual decay among the population». This will provide the authorities of Uzbekistan with additional levers of pressure on the LGBT community, PLH and any citizens who are problematic to them, since the draft covers a wide range of groups and uses abstract language.

CRIMINALIZATION OF HIV TRANSMISSION

Article 113⁵ CC RUz criminalizes not only the transmission of HIV, but also «knowingly placing someone at risk of infection». It is not stated in the law whether this article applies to cases where one's sex partner provided informed consent or where preventative measures in the form of ARV treatment and condoms were used. In 2022, a gay man was convicted under this article despite being on ARV treatment. Thus, all persons living with HIV who have sex can be held criminally liable, which violates their right to sexual health.

Moreover, according to the Order of the Minister of Health of RUz 54-n of April 5, 2019, health authorities are required to report cases of sexual transmission of HIV to law enforcement agencies in order to subsequently bring the person to justice under Article 113 CC RUz. The order establishes the following procedure: in case of detection of HIV infection, a conversation is held and the route of transmission is determined. Then the medical worker checks whether the sexual partner of this person is in the electronic database, after which the information is transmitted in writing to the internal affairs authorities for further investigation.

There is direct discrimination against people living with HIV in Uzbekistan. They are required to disclose information about their sexual partners to government agencies in accordance with Article 57 of the Code of Administrative Offenses⁶, which prohibits concealing the source of infection.

In the new draft of the CC RUz, Article 113 is defined by article 136, which provides for punishment for the deliberate transmission of HIV with imprisonment from 5 to 8 years.

⁵ Criminal Code of the Republic of Uzbekistan.

⁶ Code of Administrative Offenses of the Republic of Uzbekistan, Article 57 «Concealment of the source of infection with a sexually transmitted disease or HIV infection/AIDS».

LEGAL RECOGNITION OF GENDER

Article 149 of the Decree of the Republic of Uzbekistan «On approval of the rules for registration of acts of civil status»⁷ allows a person to change their gender marker when they change their sex. However, the legislation does not regulate the concept of «sex change» and the requirements for trans people to change their gender marker may vary. Additionally, Article 229 of the Family Code of RUz⁸ establishes the possibility of «making amendments following a sex change, only at the conclusion of health authorities».*

There is no legally established protocol for changing one's gender marker in official documents. Amending documents involves a long process⁹, which includes a differential diagnostician with mandatory observation in a psychoneurological dispensary, after which a final decision on the diagnosis¹⁰ is made by an advisory board. Following this, the person can begin hormone therapy. Taking hormone therapy prior to diagnosis and living as a trans* person for at least 2 years is grounds for diagnosis. After the diagnosis is made, the doctor has the right to issue a certificate¹¹ attesting that a sex change using hormone therapy was carried out, after which the trans* person can change the gender marker in their official documents on the basis of this certificate.

CASE 18

18.1 CASE DESCRIPTION

A gay man wrote to an acquaintance, suggesting that he was also from the LGBT community. A few days later, someone with an unfamiliar profile wrote to the victim and invited him on a date. At the agreed-upon place, the victim was surrounded by four men, who forcibly put him into a car, and drove him out of the city. One of them turned out to be the same acquaintance to whom the victim had written earlier. The men began to beat the young man and filmed it on camera. The acquaintance of the gay man said: «I will bury you alive. I have two hectares of land, no one will find you». They threatened to out him, and said that he was a disgrace to their city and nation. After beating the victim, the offenders brought him back to the city and told him to stay silent and to be glad that he was still alive. However, the man, filming what was happening on his phone, distributed this video on the Internet, as a result of which the victim was fired from his job, and his friends and acquaintances stopped communicating with him. ВЫВОДЫ И РЕКОМЕНДАЦИИ

In 2022, 80 cases of violations of the rights of LGBT people were registered in 8 regions of Uzbekistan and in the Republic of Karakalpakstan. The victims included 94 gay men or other MSM, 3 trans* women, and 1 bisexual woman. In addition, 1 heterosexual man and 2 heterosexual women faced violations of their rights due to political persecution or their association with the LGBT community.

Most often, violations were committed due to the SOGI of the victims. Grounds for the violation of rights also included HIV status and involvement in sex work.

Article 141 CC RUz «Violation of the equality of citizens» was violated in 47 cases, Article 206 CC RUz «Abuse of power and authority» in 24 cases, and Article 165 CC RUz «Extortion» in 21 cases. In 5 cases, gay men were convicted under Article 120, and under Article 113 in 2 cases. In 4 out of the 5 cases, the victims were subjected to torture in the form of forced anal examinations.

Despite the fact that the state refuses to recognize the politicization of Article 120 CC RUz, in the city of Nukus, a human rights activist was forced to confess under threat of prosecution under this article.

In addition, Article 120 is used by law enforcement agencies for extortion. Meanwhile, the prevalence of fake dates, when people meet with LGBT people to further subject them to extortion and violence, is directly linked to this article and the inability of the community to seek justice.

Cases show the prevalence of hate speech in society, by both government agencies and religious representatives, and even by representatives of civil society. This affects the general level of homophobia and transphobia in the country, which in turn affects local LGBT people. Reported cases of domestic violence are particularly brutal, including one case of murder and several cases of conversion therapy²¹.

The main violators of the rights of LGBT people are representatives of law enforcement agencies: 23 cases; in 22 cases, violations were committed by relatives of the victims; and in 19 cases, by neighbors and acquaintances of the victims. In 14 cases, hate groups were organized that purposefully persecute LGBT people; while in 12 cases, LGBT people themselves violated the rights of the community, most often for the purpose of extortion.

It is not possible to resolve the issue of violations of the rights of LGBT people in Uzbekistan without decriminalizing same-sex contacts and enacting legislation friendly to PLH.

²¹ Violent attempt to change a person's SOGI through drug treatment or religious practices.

TO THE GOVERNMENT OF UZBEKISTAN

- Repeal Article 120 CC RUz and put an end to the persecution of LGBT people, ensuring their rights and freedoms in accordance with international law;
